Auckland to Bay of Islands Private Tour

On the way north we stop to look at the magnificent Kauri trees, some of the world's tallest and most impressive trees. Our first stop in the Bay of Islands can be the historic Waitangi Treaty House. It was here, on February 6, 1840, that the Pakeha Governor Hobson and the Paramount Chiefs of Aotearoa (New Zealand) signed the document which formed our bi-cultural nation. Ceillhe Tewhare Teneti Hema Sperath (Director of our company TIME Unlimited Tours) is a direct descendant of two of those Paramount Chiefs; Patuone and Tamati Waka Nene.

Just a step from the Treaty house is Te Tii, Aotearoa New Zealand's most famous Marae, or meeting place. The Whare Whakairo (carved meeting house) here is exquisite; it displays every example of traditional decoration, from whakairo (carving) to (kowhaiwhai) painted scroll patterns. Below the Treaty House and the Marae near the water's edge lies Ngatokimatawhaorua, the huge, beautifully carved waka of the Ngapuhi Iwi who are the tangata whenua or local people here.

From 1:30pm, you have the option to take a cruise around the Bay of Islands to see the very best of the Bay of Islands including the famous hole in the rock (own cost). You are also very likely to see some of the many Dolphins that live here. There are several alternative options for cruising the Bay of Islands at varying prices, so to give you the option to include exactly what you are looking for, we can certainly help you to book it (at own cost).
