

Wilderness Lodge Arthur's Pass

Arthur's Pass, Canterbury

Eco-lodge & nature guides, Arthur's Pass

A purpose built eco-lodge surrounded by native forest on a 2,400 ha farm in the heart of New Zealand's Southern Alps. The Wilderness Lodge at Arthur's Pass offers eco accommodation and on-site nature tours in a spectacular mountain setting. Walk from your room into a natural paradise of beech forest, tussock clearings, moss-lined streams and lakes. Enjoy stylish lodgings, gourmet food and warm hospitality. Owned by renowned New Zealand conservationists with exclusive onsite wildlife and farm tours, this is a destination for wildlife enthusiasts, hikers, or those wanting to experience a New Zealand high country fine merino sheep farm.

The highlight of a stay at the Lodge is a daily programme of guided nature and sheep farm discovery activities. On arrival you receive a copy of the current activities programme, maps and information on the network of farm, forest and tussock trails. Put away your cars keys for a couple of days, settle in and explore...

The lodge is a natural stop to pause and explore the New Zealand high country between Christchurch and the West Coast.
